Democritus of Greece founded Democracy that all would have a chance to vote on all issues. This has been lost in our Republic Government.

But now with our current technology of the Internet we can for the first time have a true Democracy and let the people have a real say on every issue, law, or bill.

We need a government of the people, by the people, for the people, NOT of the Representative, by the Representative, for the Representative. We must stop the influence of lobby groups.

Democracy - definition

[dih-mok-ruh-see]

1. government by the people; a form of government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised directly by the people.
2. A state of society characterized by formal equality of rights and privileges. The common people of a community as distinguished from any privileged class; the common people with respect to their political power.

Republic - definition

[ri-puhb-lik]

noun

1. a state in which the supreme power rests in the body of citizens entitled to vote and is exercised by representatives chosen directly or indirectly by them.

By definition a Democracy is a government of the PEOPLE where the people decide issues by vote. A democracy fails when it has uneducated or easily influenced voters.

A Republic is a government where the people elect Representatives to vote for them. A Republic fails when the Representatives are bought or influenced by big money or politics.

By definition the USA is a Republic NOT a Democracy. But with today’s computer technology we could make America a true Democracy.

LETTING THE PEOPLE VOTE

Put People Back into Government of The -
Let us talk a little about democracy. First let me outline its origins.

Democracy comes from a man named Democritus who lived in Greece, Athens. He had the idea that in the little society of Athens (3-400 people) everybody should take part in governing. The people of Athens went to the main square where they could negotiate the current issues and deal with them together. They would vote on the different issues, and this way, the majority would rule.

It was an idea of total participation – everybody having a vote on all issues. Of course, once you get past a thousand people and you start getting into larger and larger quantities, the true democracy isn’t doable anymore. Back in the 18th and early 19th century, when America came up with the idea of democracy, trying to capture the idea given us by the Greeks, obviously there was no technology to gather all the people of America together to talk and vote.

Since there was no way to get everybody to participate on every issue, they modified the idea of democracy to a type of what we call republic, where representatives would be hired. There are people whose job is to represent a group of people at the legislation. Unfortunately, this also doesn’t work well. Our history of the modified democracy in America is littered with the drug of money affecting the representatives. The politicians are corrupt, their minds twisted by their motivations.

Still, they remain in power. Why? Because by now, America has degenerated to a point of a two party system where people vote based on their semi-religious beliefs about being a Republican or a Democrat. People vote on sympathy and not on issues.

We have totally lost touch with the actual fact of democracy.

Can we change this? Yes, we can.

Today we have the ability to capture democracy. A full, absolute, clear way that restores the original idea of democracy.

Let’s talk about a new, Computer Party!
We take Paul I. Tician who lives in the state of Texas and who is going to run for an office in the name of the Computer Party. Now Paul, once elected, will put every issue he gets to vote on to the internet. He will spend all the money he gets on an internet page and a local television show – thus he will provide his people a possibility to exchange views. People will come on the television show, argue their points, and give everybody a chance to make their own minds. Then, when Paul gets from Washington the issues he has to vote on, he will give the decision over to his people. They will vote via World Wide Web, and this way they will tell Paul how to vote. Paul, the politician will finally represent the people.

- Votes as is told
- Susceptible to Pay Offs

Politics makes strange bedfellows rich

New Style Paul I. Tician must vote as his people vote

- Gets his job by being honest
- Keeps his job by being honest
- Does what the People want
- Votes as the people do
- Cannot be bought, bribed or paid off

Supervises open public discussion
I, Paul J. Tician, do solemnly swear by this contract to vote as the majority of my constituents vote on all issues. I will spend my office money to present a TV talk show weekly to provide a public discussion forum for my people. I will provide them with all issues and voting questions for the people to decide. I will encourage intelligent discussion and ethical debate and I will fight to uphold the constitution and resist any financial pressure or influence.
Interactivity has the virtue of democracy, conferring upon everyone with access to a computer the right and opportunity to be heard, but it’s also saddled with democracy’s vice — a tendency to assume that everyone who has a right to be heard has something to say that’s worth hearing.

(Wendy Kaminer)

Technologically this is one hundred percent possible. A computer system like this could be created and protected already today! It could be implemented within the next couple of months. Somebody could run for office with the simple idea of how voting the way his people want him who.

…yes, I understand that there are thousands of issues. At the beginning there might even be disasters because of the “chaos” this new system would cause.

But soon enough it would start to work. Believe me, this is the future! It is hypocritical for us to stick to a modified, not well working democracy when we already have the means for a true one, where everybody gets a chance to express an idea and everybody gets a chance to vote on the issues.

Why would it work well? Just think about it! With the new system, we would undeniably do the most important thing doable in politics: we would take money out of it. After the new system is implemented, lobby groups will not be able to bribe any politician. Nobody could tell Paul what to vote on because he has obligations towards his people.

Now the biggest problem is that once the people themselves will be able to decide on the issues, we will realize that there are way too many stupid people.

You ask me what we can do about it. Well, I think it’s obvious. We have to concentrate on education! Education is the key.

What I like most about constitutional democracy is...

... That it's mine!

The vision is a real democracy.
WHAT'S DEMOCRACY? Democracy is the freedom to elect our own dictators.

WHAT'S DEMOCRACY? Democracy is everyone having a voice in every decision.

Then what do we have now if not a democracy? A republic where we elect people to represent us but they can be easily bought.

Do you have a voice in things? No. The ultra rich manipulate us.

What can we do to get a voice in our lives? Make a new media. A new movie + music net with no ultra rich control.

The American Hypocrisy
The U.S. Democracy is actually NOT a Democracy
The United States is against the idea that the people should represent themselves. It is against the idea of the people having the vote on issues!

America has never let the people vote on issues, because it doesn’t really believe that people have the intelligence to actually govern themselves and decide on issues. However, the leaders of the country have found a great method of hiding this outrageous fact: every four years they run a popularity contest, where the people can vote for somebody in a suit whom they find handsome and whose jingles they enjoy. Then this person can go into politics, where (instead of the people) he represents the interest of the Republican or the Democratic Party. We do not have a government for the people, by the people, of the people, but a government for the representatives, by the representatives, and of the representatives.

Today, the Republican and the Democratic Party truly think that they know what is best so they tell the politician just how to vote. Why bother with letting the people decide about the issues? That would not be the American way, would it?

A TRUE democracy is letting the people vote on all issues
Online voting is the way of the future,
Why do we not allow us to voice our opinions on all issues on line

ALL OF US EX-PATS VOTE WITH THE COMPUTER. IT WOULD BE EASY TO DESIGN A PROTECTED SYSTEM TO STOP INTERFERENCE. THIS WOULD ALLOW PEOPLE TO EXPRESS THEIR OPINIONS ON ALL ISSUES,
BUT STILL WE NEED EXPERTS AND PROFESSIONALS TO HELP GUIDE
ACTIONS AND TO FURTHER PROTECT THE PEOPLE.

THEN:
PEOPLE SHOULD NOT BE AFRAID OF THEIR GOVERNMENTS.
GOVERNMENTS SHOULD BE AFRAID OF THEIR PEOPLE.

When the people fear their government, there is tyranny; when the government fears the people, there is liberty.
— Thomas Jefferson

People can be controlled
The problem with political jokes is they get elected.
We talked about the computer party – the one which is destined to be successful. Sooner or later, the computer party people are going to be elected, and they will bring true democracy with them. Now this can be scary to many (including me) because we know that people are generally stupid. Everywhere we look, we see prejudice and discrimination… in fact, they perpetuated in a worldwide apartheid. Can we do something about this? Can we change people? Of course we can! It’s in fact a lot easier than you think!
